

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

In the Name of Allah, Most Gracious,
Most Merciful

THE SUPREME FESTIVAL
English Version of the Urdu treatise
(Eidon - Ki - Eid)

Prof. Dr. Muhammad Mas'ud Ahmed
M. A., Ph. D., Gold Medalist

International Series

1

Idara-e-Mas'udia, Karachi
(Islamic Republic of Pakistan)

THE SUPREME FESTIVAL

By

Professor Dr. Muhammad Mas'ūd Ahmed
M.A; Ph.D

Translated and Revised By

Dr. Professor A.A. Godlas
(Georgia University, U.S.A)

International Series. No.1

Idara-i-Mas'ūdia

6/2, 5-E Nazimābād, Kārāchi. (Pākistān)

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ
مَنْ كَانَ فِي حَرْبٍ مَعَهُ نَسْرَةٌ
مِنْ كِتَابِ اللَّهِ فَليُفِئ بِهَا
إِلَى اللَّهِ عَدُوَّهُ وَهُوَ
أَعْلَمُ بِإِيمَانِهِ أَتَمَّ

Beginning with the name of Allah, the Extremely Compassionate, the Merciful.

The first thing created by Allah was the light (nūr) of the Holy Prophet¹. Then He blessed him with Prophethood², and the process of durūd sharīf litanies of blessing for the Prophet began. Angels were created who participated in durūd and salām (sending of blessings and peace to the Prophet). When that light became manifest³ in this world, people also became part of this process⁴. If we ponder this process we will realise that it too is a form of proclaiming and establishing a joyful celebration. Allāhu Akbar (God is great)!

From the very beginning of creation, remembrance of the Holy Prophet has continuously occurred and been celebrated. Allah shows infinite love for those whom He loves. He has declared their signs and symbols His own⁵ and has commanded his creation to exhibit the highest form of reverence for them⁶. He has made their memorial days to be days worthy of His remembrance⁷ by commanding, "And remind them of the days of Allah".⁸ The birthday of the Holy Prophet is an important "day of Allah". The importance of this day can be ascertained from the Qur'ān. With regard to Haḍrat Yaḥyá (John the Baptist). Allah states, "So peace be upon him the day he was born, the day he departed, and the day on which he will be raised again".⁹

The Holy Prophet came into this material World on a Monday. As a mark of gratitude for this day, he used to fast every Monday. A saḥīḥ hadith reports, "The Messenger of Allah was asked about fasting on Monday. He replied, 'I was born on it and the revelation commenced on it.'"

¹ Madārij al-Nabuwwa, vol.1, p.2

² Ash'ā al-Lam'āt, p.474

³ Qur'ān, al-Mā'ida, 5:15

⁴ Qur'ān, al-Aḥzāb, 56-57

⁵ Qur'ān, al-Baqara, 2:158

⁶ Qur'ān, al-Ḥajj, 22:32

⁷ Tafsir Khazin and Madarik

⁸ Qur'ān, Ibrāhim, 14:5

⁹ Qur'ān, Maryam, 19:15

¹⁰ According to some traditions, the date of birth of the Holy Prophet is 12 Rabī' al-Awwal, (569/571 C.E.), ¹¹ a date corroborated by proofs dating back almost four thousand years.¹² Hence Monday, 12-Rabī' al-Awwal, is especially connected to the Holy Prophet .¹³ Therefore, because of the connection of this day to him, its celebration is a means of attaining moral and spiritual elevation.

Allah declares, "Indeed Allah bestowed a favour upon the believers when he raised up a Prophet in their midst".¹⁴ Favours are conferred so that they may be remembered and never forgotten. Moreover, Allah has also declared, "Say, 'In the bounty of Allah and in His mercy—in this, then, let them rejoice'"¹⁵. The implication of these āyāt then, is that Allah has commanded us to commemorate and celebrate the joyful beginning of the Prophet's mission.

Haḍrat 'Īsá (Jesus), said to Allah, "O our Sustainer, send us a 'table spread with food' (mā'ida) from heaven, that it may be an 'īd (feast day) for us, for the first of us and for the last of us'".¹⁶ Ponder over this: if Haḍrat 'Īsá, can celebrate a feast day ('īd) on account of the coming down of a "table spread with food," should we not then celebrate the day when Allah sent the very heart and essence of the bounty? Allah declared the night on which the Holy Qur'ān was sent to humankind to better than a thousand months.¹⁷ Imagine then the greatness and loftiness of the night on which the living Qur'ān the Holy Prophet came down! If the Night of Power (Laylat al-Qadr) can be celebrated annually, then why should the night on which the pride of creation was born not be celebrated each year!

Allah states, "Speak of the bounty of thy Lord"¹⁸. Imām Bukhārī (d. 256/870) states that the Holy Prophet is the

¹⁰ Ibn al-Athir: Usd al-Ghaba, vol.1 p.21-22; Saḥih Muslim (Beirut, 1972), vol.II, p.820

¹¹ Ibn Hishām, al-Sira, al-Nabawiyya, vol.1, p.158

¹² Bhagwata Purana, Askanda, 12, chp.2, shloka, 18

¹³ Saḥih Muslim (Beirut, 1972), vol.II, p.820

¹⁴ Qur'ān, Āl-i-'Imrān 3:164

¹⁵ Qur'ān, Yūnūs 10:58

¹⁶ Qur'ān, al-Ma'ida 5:114

¹⁷ Qur'ān, al-Qadr 97:3

¹⁸ Qur'ān, al-Ḍuḥā 93:11

¹⁰ According to some traditions, the date of birth of the Holy Prophet is 12 Rabī' al-Awwal, (569/571 C.E.), ¹¹ a date corroborated by proofs dating back almost four thousand years.¹² Hence Monday, 12-Rabī' al-Awwal, is especially connected to the Holy Prophet .¹³ Therefore, because of the connection of this day to him, its celebration is a means of attaining moral and spiritual elevation.

Allah declares, "Indeed Allah bestowed a favour upon the believers when he raised up a Prophet in their midst".¹⁴ Favours are conferred so that they may be remembered and never forgotten. Moreover, Allah has also declared, "Say, 'In the bounty of Allah and in His mercy—in this, then, let them rejoice'"¹⁵. The implication of these āyāt then, is that Allah has commanded us to commemorate and celebrate the joyful beginning of the Prophet's mission.

Haḍrat 'Īsá (Jesus), said to Allah, "O our Sustainer, send us a 'table spread with food' (mā'ida) from heaven, that it may be an 'īd (feast day) for us, for the first of us and for the last of us".¹⁶ Ponder over this: if Haḍrat 'Īsá, can celebrate a feast day ('īd) on account of the coming down of a "table spread with food," should we not then celebrate the day when Allah sent the very heart and essence of the bounty? Allah declared the night on which the Holy Qur'ān was sent to humankind to better than a thousand months.¹⁷ Imagine then the greatness and loftiness of the night on which the living Qur'ān the Holy Prophet came down! If the Night of Power (Laylat al-Qadr) can be celebrated annually, then why should the night on which the pride of creation was born not be celebrated each year!

Allah states, "Speak of the bounty of thy Lord"¹⁸. Imām Bukhārī (d. 256/870) states that the Holy Prophet is the

¹⁰ Ibn al-Athir: Usd al-Ghaba, vol.1 p.21-22; Saḥih Muslim (Beirut, 1972), vol.II, p.820

¹¹ Ibn Hishām, al-Sira, al-Nabawiyya, vol.1, p.158

¹² Bhagwata Purana, Askanda, 12, chp.2, shloka, 18

¹³ Saḥih Muslim (Beirut, 1972), vol.II, p.820

¹⁴ Qur'ān, Āl-i-'Imrān 3:164

¹⁵ Qur'ān, Yūnūs 10:58

¹⁶ Qur'ān, al-Ma'ida 5:114

¹⁷ Qur'ān, al-Qadr 97:3

¹⁸ Qur'ān, al-Duḥā 93:11

greatest bounty of Allah,¹⁹ hence he should become the object of the most publicity. The Holy Prophet himself spoke about his blessed birth from the pulpit.²⁰ On his instruction some of his noble companions also described and publicized the Holy Prophets most excellent qualities.²¹ In the year 9 AH/630 C.E., on the occasion of returning from the battle of Tabūk, Ḥaḍrat ‘Abbās (d. 32/653), the uncle of the Holy Prophet, recited a poem on the birth of the Holy Prophet, in his presence.²² On another occasion, the Holy Prophet himself put the platform (minbar) on which Ḥaḍrat Hassān bin Thābit (d. 54/674) stood and sang an ode in his praise,²³ for which the Messenger of Allah blessed him with a special prayer. All these true incidents are recorded in books of traditions (aḥādīth).

Whenever Ḥaḍrat Imām Mālik bin Anas (d.179/795) would intend to speak about the tradition (Hadith) of the Holy Prophet, he would make particular preparations for it.²⁴ This practice has been perpetuated by our learned scholars (‘ulmā’) and pious sages, who continue to hold such august gatherings. On the eleventh of each month Ḥaḍrat Shaykh ‘Abd al-Qādir Jīlanī (d. 561/1166) would offer gifts in the name of the Holy Prophet,²⁵ and this practice has been continued up to the present day. In addition, Ibn Taymīyya (d. 728/1328) stated that devotees who hold mīlād gatherings sincerely will receive abundant blessings and rewards.²⁶

Mīlād gatherings [for celebrating the Prophet’s birth] are not something new; they have been celebrated for many

¹⁹ Bukhārī, vol.II, p.566

²⁰ Tirmizi, vol.II, p.201

²¹ Zurqānī, vol.I, p.27

²² Ibn Kathīr, Milad-i-Mustafa, (urdu tr.) pp.29-30; Suyuti, Hasan al-Maqasad, p.5

²³ Bukhari vol.I, p.65; al-Musnad (Beirut, 1983), vol.VI, p.72; al-Dhahabi, Siyar al-A‘lam, al-Nubala (Beirut,1992), vol.II, pp.513-41; Bukhari, Bab 68, vol.I, p.2641

²⁴ Iqama al-Qayama, p.44

²⁵ Qura al-Nāzir, p.11

²⁶ Majma‘ al-Fatāwā, vol.23, p.163.

centuries. The origin of those gatherings can be traced to the auspicious period of the Holy Prophet .

In more recent times, Shāh ‘Abd al-Rahīm (d. 1131/1719), father of Shāh Walī Allāh Muḥaddith Dihlawī (d. 1176/1762), would hold mīlād gatherings annually. On such blessed occasions, he would prepare and distribute meals to the poor.²⁷ This was also the practice of Shāh Walī Allāh and his learned son, Shāh ‘Abd al-‘Aziz Muḥaddith Dihlawī (d. 1239/1824). On every 12th of Rabī‘ al-awwal, they used to invite the masses to their mīlād gatherings, in which they would speak about the auspicious events related to the Holy Prophet’s birth. At the end of the celebration they would distribute food and sweetmeats.²⁸ Once Shāh Walī Allāh attended a mīlād gathering in Makka al-Mukarrama (Mecca) in which he saw manifestations of light cascading down.²⁹

Hāji Imdād Allāh Muḥājir Makkī (d. 1317/1899), the spiritual guide (murshid) of Rashīd Aḥmad Gangohī (d. 1323/1905), would hold mīlād gatherings each year as a means of obtaining salvation; during these gatherings, while in a standing position he would recite salawāt and salām (prayers of blessings and peace for the Prophet).³⁰ On the 12th of Rabī‘ al-awwal of each year, the grand Mufti, Shah Muhammad Mazhar Allāh Dehlawi, would hold mīlād gatherings in great splendour, continuing all night from ‘isha’ prayer until the fajr prayer, at dawn. Salawāt and salam would be recited in a standing position, after which food and sweetmeats would be distributed.³¹

As mentioned earlier, the importance of invoking blessings and peace for the Prophet is stated in the Qur’ān, which is understood as asserting that some angels are at all times reciting salawāt and salām in a standing position.³² Thus, this is the practice of the angels. In Madīna at the funeral bed of the Holy Prophet , the angels, men and women, and even children offered salawāt

²⁷ Al-Dur al-Thamin, p.8

²⁸ Al-Dur al-Munazzam, p.89

²⁹ Fuyuz al-Haramayn, pp.80-81

³⁰ Faysla-i-Hafl Mas’ala (with annotation), p.111

³¹ Tadhkara-i-Mazhar-i-Mas’ūd, pp.176-177

³² Qur’ān, al-Saffat, 37:1

and salām in groups, for hours in a standing position.³³

Seven hundred years ago, the celebrated scholar Imām Taqī al-Dīn al-Subkī (d.756/1355) was in a gathering of learned scholars in which the poetry of the Hassān of his time, Imām Sarsarī (d. 656/1258), was being recited. Upon hearing the verse in which the poet fervently urges the audience to stand at the time of the Holy Prophet's august remembrance, all of the scholars stood in reverence.³⁴

In addition, Ḥaḍrat-i Shaykh 'Abd al-Ḥaqq Muḥaddith Dihlawī (d. 1052/1642) would recite salawāt and salām invocations of blessings and peace for the Prophet in a standing position, regarding these as a means of gaining Allah's acceptance of his deeds and prayers.³⁵ In the light of these facts, it should be clear that reciting salawāt and salām is the practice of pious angels, companions of the Holy Prophet, and sages of the Muslim umma (community).

The Holy Prophet said, "Anything which is regarded as good by Muslims is regarded likewise by Allah."³⁶ Further more, the Holy Prophet stated, "Whosoever introduces a good practice (sunna ḥasana) in Islam shall not only receive a reward for it, but the reward of those who act upon it."³⁷ He also commanded that one must remain at all times under the banner of al-sawād al-a'zam (the great mass of Muslims),³⁸ which is the ³³ Madārij al-Nabuwwa, vol.II, p.440; Fatawa Riḍawiyya, vol.IV, p.54 Ref.Bayhaqi and Hakim.

³⁴ Tabaqāt al-Kubrā (Egypt), vol.I, p.208

Note: For further details please see the author's treatise "Salam-o-Qayam" (Karachi: 1361/1996) and its English translation "Salutation And Adoration" (Karachi,1316/1996)

³⁵ Akhbar al-Akhyar, (Delhi, 1309), 309, Urdu tr. p.624.

³⁶ Mo'atta Imam Muhammad, p.104; al-Mustadrak (Beirut), p.78-79

³⁷ Muslim, vol.III, p.718

Note: For further details on Sunna Hasana please see author's treatise "Na'i Batain" (Karachi, 1415/1995) and its English translation "The Novelties" (Karachi, 1316/1996) majority.³⁹ Therefore the actions of the Holy Prophet , the noble companions, the successors (tābi'ūn) , the generations after the successors, and the pious sages illustrate the Islamic authenticity of organizing and celebrating the blessed birth of the Holy Prophet .

³⁸ Mishkat, vol.I, p.58; Al-Mu. tadrak, (Beirut), p.78-79; Al-Musnad, vol.I, p.379; Ibn Maja, vol.II, p.1303

It is an inherent quality of love that a lover feels tremendous joy on hearing the praise of his beloved. Rather, it is even more correct to say that the heart of the lover yearns to praise and remember his beloved at all times. In addition, a lover is never offended by a person who is remembering his beloved. This would go against the nature of love. The truth of the matter is that genuine celebration lies in acting upon the sunna of our Holy Prophet in every aspect of our illustrious predecessors, who have championed the cause of Islam. Shāh 'Abd al-Ghanī Muḥaddith Dihlawī (d.1295/1878), the [hadith] teacher of Rashīd Aḥmad Gangohī, rightly said, "In celebrating the birth of the Holy Prophet lies a person's complete felicity."⁴⁰

May Allah bless us with the love of the Holy Prophet , which will in turn mold and conform us to the Sunna (the example of the Prophet), so that we can become a beacon of light for others. Āmin!

With the Co-operation of
Sahibzada Mian Jamil Ahmad Sharquri

Sher-e-Rabbani Islamic Centre
11-A, Bedford Avenue, Calander Road
Valley Range, Manchester (U.K.)
Ph. 01-61-8619778

³⁹ Mishkat, p.31; Muslim, vol.III, pp.1476-77; Bukhāri (trans M.M.Khan) vol.IX, p.145-146

⁴⁰ Shifa al-Sa'il, marfat.com

